InstaFloor sponsors the new Quick-Step Training Academy for flooring installers

Quick-Step, a leading global manufacturer of domestic and commercial flooring, has recently set up the impressive Academy for Excellence in Flooring.

It's the world's largest facility dedicated to the education and training of flooring installation professionals, and InstaFloor are delighted to sponsor this important academy.

Located at Trafford Park, Manchester, it will hold Foundation and Master Installer courses to train flooring installers in preparation, installation, finishing and maintenance to ensure that customers get a professional installation every time.

InstaFloor has been invited to become a sponsor of this academy due to the innovative nature of its acoustic InstaCradle floor systems, and unique InstaLay self-adhesive underlay systems. These products involve original and beneficial installation methods that trainees will learn during their courses.

InstaLay's environmentally friendly, acoustic rubber crumb underlays will also be featured in the training courses to show how solid wood floors can rapidly be installed, without wet adhesives or mechanical fixings. Laminates and engineered floors can also be laid on our 'Peel & Stick' InstaLay to improve acoustic performance and provide extra support and durability for a click system.
